KITCHEN

The kitchen is the home's workroom. This is where the same utensils and appliances are used day after day. They must be able to withstand many actions without losing their function or appearance. Skagerak Denmark's many items for the kitchen range from beautiful classic designs in wood to innovative products in materials such as glass, plastic and stainless steel that create new forms of expression and potential uses. The common feature of all of these products is that they endure – in terms of both form and function.
